OUR REINFORCEMENTS.

THE PUSILIERS FOR THE NORTH. The Hongkong Garrison has been further denuded of toops for the north, the following embarking on the Taisang for Taku on Saturday:-Royal Welch Fusiliers-5 officers, warraent officer, 1 Quarter-master Sergeant, 8 sergeants, 121 rank and file; Royal Army Medical Corps-2 officers and 1 Non-commissioned officer.

As the men left Murray Pier in launches at 10.30 in the morning they were accompanied by many of their comrades and the regimental band. His Excellency the Governor (Sir Henry Blake) and Viscount Suirdale, A.D.C., were present at the embarkation and along with H.E. Major-General Gascoigne, officer commanding the forces in China, Capt. Trefusis, A.D.C., Colonel The O'Gorman and Headquarters Staff, visited the ship and inspected the men and their quarters. Prior to embarking, on the call of Major-General Gascoigne, three hearty cheers were given by those left behind for their more fortunate comrades. The Tuisang left about noon. The officers who accompany the force are Lieut-Colonel Hon-R. Henry Bertie, Major A. F. Cooper, Lieut. A. Hay, Lieut. R. J. B. Johnson, Lieut. and Q.M.-Sergt. Patterson.

MORE TRANSPORTS ARRIVE. The Nairung, which left Calcutta on the 3rd inst, arrived at Hongkong yesterday morning and left for the north at three o'clock in the afternoon. She had on board the left wing of the 24th Punjaub Infantry, 1 Section of the 43rd Native Field Hospital, 150 camp followers. 6 horses and 120 mules.

Later on in the day the Zebengla arrived with Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Gaselec. Major-General Barrow and Staff Officers and details, 24 horses and 36 mules.

CANTON.

Our Canton correspondent writes from Canton on the 14th instant:-- Upon receipt of the news that H.E. Li Hung-chang is going North in three or four days by the China Merchant steamer Auping, people became restless and apprehensive, and seemed to have lost all the confidence in the Chinese officials, in spite of their vows and assurance of protection. The foreign Consuls in Shameen called a meeting yesterday and decided upon the plan of defence.

SOME DETAILS OF TIENTSIN FIGHTING.

A N.-C. Daily News representative had an interesting interview with an officer of the Heinchi, the C.M.S. vessel which brought many refugees from Tientsin to Shanghai. We make some extracts:-THE BOMBARDMENT OF TIENTSIN.

The Chinese, according to latest news, are using a 15 c.m. gun and II smaller weapons in the bombardment of Tientsin, and, using smokeless powder, the troops have difficulty in locating them. The only guns of any use are those of H.M.S. Terrible, others being too short of range. [These Terrible guns are two 12-prs.].

THE CHINESE DEAD. There were thousands of dead Chinese along the river banks, and floating down the river at Tientsin. The stench is described as "simply dreadful." In many quarters starving dogs had eaten bodies in the streets.

*LYDDITE FOR THE BRITISH When the steamer left, the British were sendun Lyddite ammunition to Tientsin, and it would be at its destination by now. THE FIRST CHINKSE CONTINGENT.

The men of the First Chinese Regiment are credited with first-class work, both in bayonet fighting and in doing military police work.

THE CORDON HALL SHELLED. The Gordon Hall, the refuge place at Tientain, appears to have been a favourite target for the artillery outside Tientsin, and at last accounts the famous tower was completely destroyed.

THE CHINESE ARTILLERY. At the opening of the hombardment Chinese artillery fire was very inaccurate, they soon got the range effectively, well nigh demclishing the French Concession, and every house in the British quarter has been looted. CANTONESE IN HIDING.

The Cantonese residents in Tientsin are hiding in cellars and other places, as the Russians are sparing no one that has a queue. CAPTURE OF ENEMY'S MUNITIONS.

In a small arsenal ontside Tientsin, captured by the British and Russians, over 3,000,000 cartridges and 37 Krupp field guns (brand new and packed in cases) were found. As Admiral Seymour's men were going by the Arsenal on the road back, a sentry challenged them. TAKING THE ARSENAL.

Admiral Seymour offered the Russian Admiral the first chance of taking the place, but the latter said it could not be done. The Arsenal was firing on the column, who retreated to the reeds by the river. The Admiral sent 400 his marines, under Major Johnstone, and blueiackets to take the place. They got within 100 yards of it before they were discovered, and then they gave one rush and took it at the point of the bayonet. Several of the naval people were killed and wounded. All the British dead were properly baried and their graves The Chineso cleared out of in which were also found Maxim guns and field pieces, many splendid officer's swords, new sextants (with Kew certificates), and many Mannlicher rifles. None of the arms were of British make. One Maxim and a field gun were taken and the others destroyed.

A GLOOMY PREDICTION. A report is current in the North that it will be impossible for troops to advance to the relief of Peking before the 1st of September, owing to the state of the roads. The enemy have cut the river banks and flooded the roads and made marching impossible.

THE "BARFLEUR'S" LOSSES. H.M.S. Barfleur is reported to have had the heaviest losses amongst the British fleet, some of her men now suffering from terrible injuries. The work of the ship itself is impeded by the number of men killed and wounded. GALLANT MIDDING.

That England's midshipmen are just as days gone by was shown during the operations of Admiral Seymour's column. One juvenile wearer of the "patch," belonging to H.M.S. Aurora, in one engagement was in the thick of the fire carrying messages to and fro when a Boxer fired at him at 10 yards range. The rifle ball passed through the youngster's helmet, clipping the top of his ear. He at once drew his revolver and shot his opponent in the throat, killing him. The lad is not much more than 14 years of age. Another gallant middy, named Donaldson, of the Barfleur, was engaged in despatch work during the fight and he was shot through the head and also through the legs. There were hopes that he would recover at first, but eventually he succumbed to his wounds.

A GALLANT GUIDE. The people of Tientsin speak in glowing terms of the bravery of Mr. James Watts, son of the pilot at Taku. This young gentleman, with three Cossacks, set out from Tientsin to Taku to report the state of uffairs, and the little party were several times fired upon, having to take shelter in the reed-beds along the river. They got through safely and Mr. Watts piloted the Welsh Fusiliers and the Hongkong Regiment back to Tientsin. Mr. Watts has since been made a sub-lieutenant of the Tientsin

PRKING IN BAD PLIGHT. The last news from Peking at Tientsin was that there were only three days provisions in the Legation and that the ammunition would last about that period.

GERMAN ACTION IN THE CRISIS. The following items are from the last issue to hand of Der Ostasiatische Llond :-

At a meeting held on Tuesday (3rd inst.) by the German residents of Shanghai it was decided on account of the serious political situation to send the following telegram to His Majesty the German Emperor :--Shanghai, 3rd July.

The German Merchants of Shanghai being convinced that the rebellion in the North, the rising in Shantung and the disturbances the Yangtze Valley, will spread, respectfully wish to draw Your Majesty's attention to the necessity of our being as well represented as the other Powers, both by military and naval forces, in order to maintain our position as second commercial Power in the East.

In reply to this the following telegram was received from H. M. the German Emgeror:-Wilhelmshaven July 4th.

To the Merchants of Shanghai, Your wishes will be fulfilled to the utmost of my Power. Moltke with Bismarck already on the way. One division ironelads and one division infantry will follow.

WILHELM J. R. THE RELIEF OF TIENTSIN.

On the 22nd and 23rd of June large detachments opushed on by rail to have way to Tientsin, the point from which the line was destroy. ed, whence they proceeded on foot to the North, the German marines and the Russians on the left, the British and American troops on the right bank of the river.

able to cross the river below Tientsin and be the first to effect the relief of the foreign settlement. The German and Russian troops however encountered the most stubborn resistance. The Chinese had even gone so far as to measure off the distance for rifle and shell. The Germans and Russians advancing with great courage lost heavily. One Company under Captain Gené lost one fourth of its men, including Lieutenant Friedrich. (We hear from other sources that besides Lt. Friedrich they lost 10 killed and 20 wounded). They were exposed all night to the fire from the Arsenal, which had not yet been taken.

THE ADMIRALS BEFORE TAKU. It is now known that it was due to the efforts of the German admiral, supported partially by the younger English Rear Admiral, that the other admirals were gradually and with the utmost difficulty convinced of the necessity of the capture of the Taku forts. There is now sufficient proof that had the bombardment been delayed a few days longer and the Chinese allowed time to get sufficient troops to man these forts, beautifully equipped and magnificently armed as they are, they would never have been captured.

CHUNCKING. The Shanghai Mercury's correspondent wrote on the 27th ult The Pioneer was just starting to-day with seven European first-class passengers, a full complement of Chinese passengers, and cargo when she was detained by H.B.M. Consul. The French and Japanese Consuls, in connection with the English Consul, had already asked for her to be detained. MISSIONARIES IN CHINA.

The following remarks of Mr. Wong, pastor of the London Mission Chapelein Hongkong. terest. Pastor Wong writes :-

friend translated a paragraph by a Western friend, published in the Hongkong Daily Press, which refers to missionaries, stating that their exists the present great calamity.

friend is, having read his article I have somewhat to say in reply to him. I trust he will law cases in connection with the Church? Innot blame me, and if I err in what I say I trust | deed, it has arisen because they (the officials) this good friend will pardon me.

Hongkong has changed wonderfully. The Gov. have received such inelegant names. case in connection with the Church, which has not blame the wolves, but censures those who been dealt with unfairly. Nevertheless to-day would rescue the sheep. when the Chinaman hears that China'wishes to kill every missionary and foreigner, his heart, | people and Government have known a long time contrary to what might be expected, rejoices I am afraid this is the case with six or seven out of every ten. Thus it may be known that (i.e. the propagation of Christianity translator), it is very difficult to get rid of this feeling of hatred against foreigners. Those who gradu-$10 and $6) were offered for a leap frog ally lose this feeling, and do not hate Westerners, are those who have entered the church and those who are friend of the converts.

> remove this feeling possessed by the Chinese we must certainly employ the doctrine of Christianity, and preach it throughout the whole of China to melt this heart, which hates men of the outer nations, and which has been hardened through several thousand years.

In the second place it is important that the Chinese classics should be read so as to understand how the civilization of ancient generations dealt with barbarians, and what is the civilization of the Chinese Sages. Many men have read the choicest of the Sages' doctrine. Now referring to one's parents' wish for revenge, it says that one must not live with the enemy between the same heaven and earth (i.e. the son must kill his parents' enemy or be killed in not treat me well must be treated according to straight principles. . Moreover it says, "Repulse barbarians, do not allow them in China.

And the Chinese are always wishful to carry out these principles, and these principles have been instilled into the Chinese mind for over two thousand years. How then shall they not hate Westerners.P

Hong Yau Wai and Leung Kai Chiu are men who understand the dictrines of Christianity but although they praise Christian foreigners with their mouths, yet in their hearts they verily hate with extreme hatred both Jesus and Westerners, and therefore they have established a society for the preservation of Confucianism, and for the various sects.

When Kang Yau Wai was in difficulty he was rescued by a missionary, and yet in places 2 beyond the sea he everywhere establishes Confucian temples and leads men to oppose Christianity. The British Government saved Long Yan Wai and treated his party well, and yet Leung Kai Chin not infrequently describes the badness of the British Government and looses soldiers on the new boundary to work evil. He treats Chinese harshly and stirs them up to hate Christianity and to hate foreigners. If at that time (i.c. prior to the coup d'état-Translator) Hong Yan Wai and Leung Kai Chiu's reform party had succeeded, and the societies he established to preserve Confucianism and various parties had flourished, I am afraid the calamities, which would have resulted in China through active opposition to Christianity and hatred of Westerners would be still greater and far more numerous than those caused by the Boxer

Society to-day. In the third place it is important to know that the gain and power, which the Great West has sought in China, are excessive, and it has continually desired to divide the Middle King. | continued till June 5th to urgently press upon doms. Our Government knows well that possessing the country is just as if they had no country; but I fear, when it (division) is accomplished there will be difficulty. Therefore China, beforehand, makes a secret treaty with Russia and desires for once a great war hoping to be able to escape misfortune; hence the pre- These remonstances having no effect, and the sent calamity.

It is a pity there is a class of foreigners who know not that China's power is already absolutely lost, and therefore the Government is ferced to do what is being done now.

But, on the other hand, I do not say that this trouble has nothing whatever to do with the business of converts' law cases. I only say that the people have borrowed this as a reason for raising a storm. That which is most patent is that six or seven out of every ten Chinese offlcials covet wealth, and skin the people, treating them with indifference. I do not know how much injustice the people of the country as a whole | there or at Tientsin or in the neighbourhood. daily suffer. A few officials have a heart to sympathise with the people, and hence the people do not hate the officials as deeply as they do with reference to a letter which appeared in our Westerners. For this reason, also, they have columns on the 5th inst., will be read with in- not wrought rebellion, or any great calamity. > CHINA IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

COMPLETE ACCORD AMONGST THE POWERS In the House of Commons on the 13th ult. Sir H. Campbell-Rannerman said: I have to ask the First Lord of the Treasury whether he can give the House any information as to the state of affairs in China.

Mr. Balfour: I think perhaps the most convenient source will be for my right hon. friend the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs to make a satement upon the subject.

Mr. Joseph Walton: Before the right hon. gentleman makes his statements, I desire to ask him a question of which I have given him private notice—namely, Whether Her Majesty's the attempt-Translator). Again, those who do Government will endeavour in concert with other Powers to arrange for the deposition of the Dowager-Empress and the restoration of Kwang Su as Emperor of China; whether Her Majesty's Government have provided for the protection of the Tientsin-Peking and Tientsin-Shan-haikwan railways by stationing armed guards along the railway tracks; whether Her Majesty's Government will without further delay place an adequate number of suitable gunboats on the Yangtsze and West rivers for the protection of British trade; and whether Her Majesty's Government are taking all necessary steps to prevent the punishment of Chinese in consequence of having rendered assistance to

> Mr. Brodrick: In reference to the questions of the right hon, gentleman and the hon, member for Barnsley, it is, I think, desirable to state briefly to the House the course of recent events at Peking. Her Majesty's Minister at Peking has been in constant communication with the Chinese Government since the attack made by "Boxers" on peaceable converts and the destruction of three villages about ninety miles from Peking on May 12. On May 18 Sir Claude Macdonald reminded the Yamen of his unceasing warnings during the last six months of the danger of not taking adequate measures to suppress the "Boxers." Imperial decree was consequently issued. On 20th May a meeting of the Corps Diplomatique was held, and a resolution unanimously adopted calling on the Yamen to take more stringent measures. It was not then considered necessary to bring guards to Peking, but the British Marine guard at Tientsin which had been under orders, to leave was retained there. Two British ships were sent to Taku. No specific measures having been taken by Yamen on 26th May the Corps Diplomatique met again, and it was decided, failing a satisfactory reply from the Yamen, to send for guards. This course was adopted on 28th

British concessionaires.

May, and a British detachment of seventyeight men with a machine gun was at once sents to Peking and 104 men to Tientsin. Four more British ships were brought to Taku from Weihaiwei. News was then received of Mr. Robinson's murder and capture of Mr. Norman. The British Minister the Yamen the necessity of their taking instant and effective steps to punish the murderers of Mr. Robinson, to secure the release of Mr. Norman, and to restore order, and informed them that Her Majesty's Government would hold the Chinese Government responsible for the criminal apathy which had brought about this disgraceful state of affairs. . (Hear, hear.) situation both in Peking and neighbourhood becoming more threatening, Her Majesty's Government on June 6 telegraphed instructions to Her Majesty's Minister and to Admiral Seymour to take in concert with other Powers any steps which in their discretion, which was left unfettered-(hear, hear)-they might consider advisable for the protection of the foreign Legations at Peking, or of British subjects

Her Majesty's Minister, after conference with the Russian representative at Peking, was empowered to support any Chinese authority capable of maintaining law and order or any measure to this end, the Russian Minister being similary authorised. The general officer commanding at Hongkong and the Straits Settlements was ordered, in the event of the Admiral's requiring troops for service at Poking, to send whatever troops could be spared from his command, and was informed they would be replaced. In consequence of further depredations by the Boxers," Admiral Seymour called up three moreships and on 9th inst., after consulation with the foreign commanders, decided to land a force and march on Peking. On 10th inst. he marched with 1,078 men, of whom 650 were British. subsequent reinforcement force has been raised ships of the seven Powers represented, about 900 of them being British. The Admiral has advanced thirty miles 11th inst., on which date he encountered the "Boxers" and killed thirty. five of them. The railway being much broken up only three miles were made during the succeeding twenty-four hours, but there was no further engagement. Nine hundred and fifty troops are being embarked from Hongkong, and the Terrible will leave Hongkong for Taku. The Russians are landing an additional force of 1,700 men. Sir Claude Macdonald reports on June 11 that disorders are occurring in Peking. and the British Summer Legation in the hills, which was in the custody of the Chinese Government, had been destroyed by fire. Mr. Maclean: The right hon, gentleman referred to a consultation with the Russian Minister at Peking. Does he mean us to understand that there is a closer arrangement between Her Majesty's Government and the Government of Russia than there is with the Governments of other Powers? THE HOSPITAL QUESTION. London, 30th June. Mr. Wyndham, in his reply to the picture drawn by Mr. Coutts of the hospital arrangements at Bloemfontein, points out that the case made out by the writer depends entirely on the fallacy that Bloemfontein was a secure base, where it was exposed to attack and short of ammunition and food. Communications southward were imperfect, and they were struggling to provide both in order that the army might make a rapid advance, much like the march that was necessary to relieve Mafeking. Thus the difficulties were inevitable, but, nevertheless, the percentage of deaths in all cases of enteric was only 21. whereas in the Dongola campaign in 1896 it was 50 per cent., in the Matabele war 32 per cent., in the Chitral expedition 28 per cent., and even in peaceful England it was over 20 per cent., so that after all was said the result was not unsatisfactory.

THE BRITISH ARMY. H. O. ARNOLD-FORSTER, M.P.

THE COUNTRY IN DANGER.

A LESSON FROM FRANCE. In the year 1793, the walls of the City of Paris were placarded with the stirring words "La Patrie on danger." ("The country in danger.") . The Parisians, moved by the appeal flocked to the public offices to take the oath of allegiance to the Republic and joined the colours in thousands. Their eacrifices were rewarded. the foreigner was driven from French soil, and the armies of France marched from victory to victory until half the Continent of Europe lay at the feet of her generals. Nearly eighty years later, in the closing months of 1870, the same motto appealed to the people of France from the walls of the capital. Again the patriotism of the Parisians made a prompt and effective response. Tens of thousands of men came forward to reinforce the broken armies which had been skuttered and hurled back from the Eastern frontier. All the valour and the goodwill of individuals could do was done, but the appeal had been made too late. The days of grace. within which the neglect and ill-doing of past yours might have been repaired, had expired, and the penalty had to be paid. The broad colurans of the Gorman troops marched in triumph past the great Arch of Victories and down the stately avenue of the Champs Elysées; the treaty g Frankfort deprived France of two of her fairest provinces, and an indomnity of five milliards of francs was wrung from the already impoverished nation, as a ransom paid for liberty to exist. The actual amount of the indennity was but a fraction of the gigantic loss, direct and indirect. which the beaten nation had to bear.

Here are two true stories, each with its moral. In 1703 the danger to France was great, but she met and overcame it. Her citizens were. ready to die for her, but that was not enough. for in 1870 they were equally willing. She had three other advantages which made her sacrifices availing. In the field her armies were lod by generals who learnt their trade and won their promotion upon the battlefield. At home the military resources of the country were ganised and applied by a master in the art. Carnet, a member of the Committee of Public Safety, was entrasted the task of preparing France for war. Of him it was said: "Alone in this Committee he was competent to form just opinions upon the subject of the war, and he became the sovereign arbiter of everything that related to it. Beyond dispute his task was the most important and the most difficult which fell to the lot of any member of the Government, for his duty was no less than creating. arming, and directing, simultaneously, fourteen armies. For a long period Carnot was entrusted with this burden." He bore it, and bore it successfully. Even the genius in the field of Moregy or even that of Boneparte could have accomplished little without the aid of the great organiser in Paris, who had placed the weapon in their hands. Lastly, and above France had to meet enemies less prepared, less apt for war than herself. The armies Prussia and Austria clung to the traditions practices of a military art which had become obsolete, and during twelve years of defeat and disgrace they paid the penalty of their conservatism and their neglect. A LESSON FROM PRUSSIA.

But one of these great Powers, having learnt in the school of affliction, applied the lesson Three times did the French army enter Berlin and at Jena and Auerstadt the Prussian army was practically annihilated. But from morrow of Jena, Prussia applied itself to the task of making such another humiliation impossible. The problem was studied, and the problem was solved. Not by sitting down and doing nothing; not by dwelling on the abstract virtues of the Prussian system and recalling the bygone successes of Frederick the Great; but by sheer downright scientific hard work; by studying the difficulties which had to be en countered, and by providing the means by which they could be overcome with the certainty of success. Like almost all good work, it took time. General Trochu, during the siege Paris, took a fortnight to invent a "plan. The plan was guaranteed to save France. took rather less than a fortnight to get rid of both the plan and its author. In the year 1900 the British War office invented a "plan" in about a week. It was brand new and bore the highest guarantees from its inventors. Perhaps the plan of 1900 will be more successful than the plan of 1870. Perhaps it will not. But the Prussian plan was quite of a different kind. took years to prepare it, and years of patient work to carry it into effect. But it worked In 1870 Prussia was triumphant, In 1871 the German Empire was founded, and from that day to this has continued to grow in strength, stability and influence.

THE KING AND HIS PROPHETS. This in no doubt a long preface, but it is not inserted without a purpose. It has been introduced to prove what Englishmen are too apt to forget, namely, that the greatest nations are subject to the same laws which govern individuals that neglect and apathy are punished by misery and disgrace; that great results are produced not by good will and good intentions only but by careful prepartion and by scientific organisation Never was there a time when it was more important than it is at present that the British was it more desirable that they should cease from talking and begin acting. For here and now it can most truly be said, as it was said in Paris in 1793 and in 1870 "La Patrie est en danger" -The country is in peril. • It is the fashion in some quarters to deny this, to say smooth things and to speak of enyone who points out the danger as "a panio-monger and alarmist." [1756] There were prophets who prophesied smooth LD.

things so long ago as Micainh, son of Imla; | to attack Germany with safety. But there is a but though their smooth savings pleased the King, they did not prevent the king losing his life nor Israel from being dispersed upon the mountains as sheep that have no shepherd. The British public is now to all intents and purposes the King, and if it likes to hear smooth things, and to give honour to those who cry "peace, peace, when there is no peace," it can easily find as many prophets as it desires who will go on prophesying up to the last moment, until the fatal arrow strikes the between joints of the harness, and the sun sets upon the death of the King.

Many things which we possess foreign. countries do not envy us at all; but our wealth and our prosperity they do envy, and that cary constitutes a danger. A yet more powerful passion than eavy is that of hate, which is the child of envy. No one who has paid the slightest attention to the expressions of public and private opinion in most of the great Continental countries. can have the slightest doubt that the passion of hate animates enormous numbers of foreigners in all their thoughts towards the British Empire. It would take a book, not merely a portion of a short article, to explain the reasons for the existence of this feeling against. us. But that it exists, and must be reckened with, no sensible man is likely to deny! That we are ourselves to some extent, if not to a great extent, responsible for its existence, is unfortulately a fact not open to question-Many of the charges which are brought against us as a nation are unfounded or exaggerated. but many are true. The fearful hypocrisy which marks so many of our national proceedings, is perhaps more often cited abroad as the cause of our unpopularity than any other characteristic. Moreover our habit of lecturing other people and glorifying ourselves is really very intolerable, and does not add to the number of our friends. But it is not necessary to continue the catalogue of good reasons. If there were not a single good reason why foreigners should dislike us, there

To protect herself, and to retain succeeding articles of this series to show how, her spoils, Germany armed in like manner, and ere long there arese on the frontier between the two countries a series of fortifications so complete and elaborated that the way from one country to the other became absolutely barred in time of war. This fact has been realised by the French military authorities. A war of revenge against Germany has now ceased to be popular: partly, indeed principally, because it is recognised that it is no longer possible, or at any rate that it presents no reasonable prospect of success. But the expenditure of money and energy originally intended to prepare for war with Germany, has created an immense army which is a ready instrument in the hands of the French people. It is not possible

YOU MUST STOP COUGHING.

The best way to cure Chronic Coughs, Bronchitie, and Chest-Colds is to apply Little's Oriental Balm. Rubbed well into the chest and back, it penetrates immediately to the inflamed parts. The tickling in the throat ceases; the people should take these things to heart; never spasm weakens; the cough disappears. It often cures when nothing else will. Could anybody afford to be without it in the house all the time? Mr. N. Lowe, of James Street, Blackburn, says: - I was worn out almost to the grave with s racking cough that all the remedies and the growing school in France which believes that it is possible, and may easily be profitable, to attack Great Britain. The existence of this belief in a serious danger.

THE IRON POT AND THE EARTHENWARE POT. Again, it is well to remember the old fable of the earthenware pot and the fron pot. In these days when everybody is armed, the unarmed man, even though endowed with a good conscience and the best intentions, is not always safe. Platitudes about the undesirability war have never yet saved a nation, nor availed to stop the progress of an enemy. Success in war is obtained by those who have studied the art and prepared for its excercise, and those who have studied it best, and prepared for it most thoroughly, will be successful. It may be, and indeed is lamentable that great nations should spend their wealth and their manhood in preparations for war. But if they elect so to net, they will undoubtedly by more successful in war than those who for the best of motives have neglected or refused to prepare. Up to the present time the art of military preparation. as it is understood among the great military nations, has been practically ignored in the country, thance, good luck and a certain amount of anateur effort, have been considered sufficient. The condition to which the country has been reduced in consequence, will be described in the course of these articles. There are some who imagine that because our want of precaution and our amateur management have not hitherto led to a calamity, we owe cur sufety to our improvidence and to our want of taking things seriously. This is a most unfortunate view. Many structure will last, and look specious enough, until it is tested, but it is when stress and strain are applied, that inherent weakness becomes apparent. The fact that while other nutions have prepared themselves for war on ccientific principles, we have failed to do so, constitutes a real dauger to this country. NO ALLIANCES. Lastly, it must be remembered that it has ong been and still is, part of the settical policy of this country, not to make alliances. From many points of view, the policy is a good one. Undoubtedly it has its advantages, but it has its disadventages also, and they are not inconsiderable. We decline to make alliances, because in the first place, it is difficult under our constitution for one Government to give pledges would still be plenty of bad ones, and for the present purpose the cause of the feeling is iminatorial; it is the result which alone concerns us. The result undoubtedly is that the wide-which shall bind another, and in the second 'place, we believe that on the whole it serves our purpose better, and is more profitable to us as a nation, to stand uside and let other people quarrel while we look on. The plan has often succeeded, but it would be mistake to suppose that it is always certain to be equally successful. It is no doubt a fine thing to prove to all the world that this country can stand alone, and neither seeks nor requires aid from anyone. But the attitude involves certain Then again, the country is in danger not | consequences. PRONUNCIATION. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given. the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16.000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000 whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000; Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one Seneral meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto published.

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally. It comprises upwards of two thousand large

The Proprietor, Mr. U Yam Ting, is a man of great energy and business capacity, and is also very benevolent, giving nway thousands of dollars worth of medicine in charity, usually with an eye to the main offchance. He has many testimonials as to the efficiency of his medicines from officials, scholars and business men. Like the Chinese generally he has great faith in medicine and is desirous of extending his business to foreign countries, giving people of western lands the beneat of his

He has submitted to me the formulas of some of his preparations for examination, giving full explanation as to the medical qualities of the ingredient. I have found the Tung Kwan San or Army Medical Powder and the Tit Ta San or Falling and Braising Medical Powder composed of Musk, Barovs, Camphor, Rhubarb, two kinds of gum, with red oxide of mercury and yellow sulphide of arsenic, animal and vegetable chargoal, which are known in western pharmacy. Besides this it contains gold leaf, tigers and dragons hones, shavings of antelope and rhinoceres horns, which I have shown him that chemical science proves to be inert, he proposes to omit 1674 from the medicine prepared for foreign use.

The medicine is to be chiefly used as a ster-

Directions are given according to the Chinese method of using the medicines. The nature of the oil is very mild, but its action is exceedingly good, possessing wondefully curative effects in both internal and external diseases. As it is an invaluable medicine it should be kept on hand ready for use by all persons, whether at home or abroad. DIRECTIONS. For external use rub the oil on the temples. forehead, between the eyebrows, back of the ears and neck, on the chest and back, on the abdomen or wherever the pain or screness is ocated. It must be rubbed on for 5 minutes. For toothache put a little in the tooth on cotton and rub on the gums. The oil has beneficial effects in headache, fainting, colds, sore throat, stomach-ache, colic pains, rheumatism, numbness of the limbs, pain in the back, cramp, local swelling and inflammations, influenza. diarrhoes, toothache, pains in the head and convulsions after childbirth, prickly heat, boils,

EVERYBREEL

An editorial in the INDIAN MEDICAL RECORD, of October 18th, 1897, eays 2 For many years in India, a large number of enterprising firms in England and Europe have been flooding the market with so-called Fonds for Infants and Children. It is remarkable to note how one after another these various brands of doubtful virtue have reased to appear. Time and the public conscience have pronounced their verdict—and to-day we find BENGER almost alone. The admirable combination of the nutritive elements is so perfectly brought about as to render their digestion a matter of pleasant facility for the weakest man or the frailest infant. To-day the medical profession of India finds it cannot do otherwise than stand by a friend who has proved his daily criterion to public support, namely, REAL WORTH."
